FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

March 9, 2021

‘This Week in Crowley’ Facebook Live Debuts Wednesday, March 10

CROWLEY, Texas - Beginning at 2 p.m. on Wednesday, March 10, and continuing each Wednesday at the same time, the City of Crowley will host a weekly Facebook Live Session called “This Week in Crowley” where Crowley City Manager Robert Loftin or other city department heads will take 5-10 minutes to introduce new information about what’s going on in the City.

While viewing the event, if you have questions, please leave them in comments, and time permitting, we may answer them immediately or we will answer them in the comments or address them in an upcoming episode.

We hope this will be one more area where our residents can find out more about all the good things happening in our city as well as a place where you can get answers to your questions. Please join us live or you can view it later on the City’s Facebook page.

In addition, the City has many other avenues where residents can find out what is happening in our City. Please see the additional information below.
